

Multiply

Maths skills for parents

Are you a parent at St Margaret's without a level 2 qualification in maths (GCSE A-C or equivalent) who wants to brush up on your maths skills?

Come to a free four week course on Wednesday mornings in the meeting room 9-11AM from Wednesday 8th March.

Each parent who completes the course will receive a £20 Love2shop voucher!

Maths skills for parents

About Multiply:

Multiply is a new programme offering free and easy to access courses and initiatives to help adults brush up their numeracy skills.

This course is for:

Parents at St Margaret's who want to learn some simple maths skills.

You will learn:

Maths skills based around money, multiplication and division, measurement and helping children with their homework.
Find out what courses are available locally if you want to take your learning further.

Work outside of sessions:

This is not required, though we hope you will want to put what you have learned into practice.

Additional costs and what to prepare:

This is a free course and there are no costs.

How to access your course:

Please let Mrs Sammarco know at the office that you want to attend the course.

Progression from this course:

You may wish to progress to other adult learning courses at Glossop Adult Community Education Centre including Making choices, Maths functional skills and Maths GCSE.

Discuss your next steps with your tutor.

For further information about our current course programme or on the additional support we offer visit: www.derbyshire.gov.uk/adulteducation

For impartial information, advice and guidance on careers and learning visit www.derbyshire.gov.uk/ncs or ask about the support available from your local Careers Coach.